How to receive credit for missed work.

Crystal Lake Middle School

2016-2017 School Year

Mr. Egan's Class – Vet Tech/FFA, Gregory.egan@polk-fl.net

Any student who misses one or more days should ask the teacher for missed work. A complete section in the book shelf by the teacher desk is donated to student work, handouts, projects, etc. Students are graded on the following items:

- Daily Performance Booster & Class Notes – this form is passed out the first of each week and turned in on the last day of each week. 100 pts. Possible/Week, 20 pts. per day
- Worksheets, typically worth 30 – 50 pts. each
- Projects, usually take up to one or more periods to complete and are over 100 pts. in value.
- Lab project monitored throughout (quarter) reporting period, this would likely be over 100 pts.

Student work can be turned in up to the last day of the grading period. Here are some options you can use to make up work missed:

- Read a chapter in a book and write a 3/4 page report on what the chapter was about. (50 pts.) Books available upon request in classroom.
- Pick up a magazine from the bookshelf in the classroom, read an article at least 2 pages long and write a review that would be at least 1/2 page. (25 pts.)
- Pick up the worksheet that you missed and complete it.
- Special Project: This is a project that you decide to do that deals with some part of the agriculture lab and/or animals we have here at the school. You could do a demonstration, you could make something or even pick a specific area out in the land lab and keep it weeded and clean for the reporting period (quarter). (50 – 100 pts.)
